A Letter of Recommendation for Sky Coyote

I have been working with Sky for about a year on a project. I hope to keep working with Sky however; I want to share my experience with whoever is reading this letter.

The project consisted of Sky doing Apple iOS, Google Android and Symbian mobile device development. He has used Objective-C, Java and C++ via various Integrated Development Environments. In addition, to test his project deliverables he built a Web based application.

I have developed a very high regard for Sky based on his outstanding contributions. I have found interaction with him to be intuitive, straightforward and concise. He has an easy and informal conversation style and a good sense of humor that makes working with him enjoyable as well as productive. He naturally became a part of our development engineering team.

Sky takes the initiative to learn what is necessary and then produces work that exceeds my expectations, both in quality and speed. Working with Sky has been a joy as his progress on our project has been excellent. He has been both diligent and enthusiastic in achieving all project goals. To assist my efforts in tracking his progress, Sky posts "blog" entries detailing his work and including plentiful illustrative graphics. This kind of professionalism is very refreshing.

Sky is quick to see the possibilities for future directions of a project and to move in those directions as time allows, but he is diligent in making sure he first fulfills the objectives of the current project. I invite his prospective clients to contact me with any questions about his many talents.

I give Sky Coyote my highest recommendation as a consultant/contractor on any programming project where you need quality work done, for a very reasonable price and delivered in a timely manner.

To whom it may concern,

We employed the programming services of SKY COYOTE on a freelance basis, for the development of our first iPhone application. His services were top notch, and we couldn't be happier to have chosen to work with him.

Communication on the project was easy and clear, our concepts and designs were understood and grasped perfectly, the code was very well thought out and executed, he was helpful at all times, and we hit ALL milestones.

It was a good collaborative programming experience and we highly recommend SKY as a programmer for this type of development. !

Thanks!

To whom it may concern,

My name is Kurt Dommermuth. In early 2010 I hired Sky to develop apps for the iPhone and iTouch. In this capacity I can emphatically recommend Sky as a tremendous asset in this endeavor. It is rare to find help that offers the skill, independent thinking and attention to detail that Sky offers. I value people who work for me based on one simple question - do they make my life easier or not. Sky definitely made my life easier.
